Work Given to All Needy Unemployed

Only Forty of Those Who Registered Have Not Been Given Work, According to Report Made at Emergency Committee Meeting Tuesday

Only about forty of those who registered with the Andover Emergency committee have not been given work, it was announced at the meeting in the Town House Tuesday evening. This group consists mostly of young men who have other members of their family working. In general, the committee has been following the practice of determining the amount of work a person should be given by the total income of the person's family. A total of 663 days' work has been given to 568 men from the time the movement started a month ago up through tomorrow. In addition the welfare department has put on something like 72 men, and Phillips academy has taken 21 men off the registration list. Ten of the fifteen Wood and Washington mill workers who had registered have been taken back during the past week, through Mr. Walter M. Lamont, agent of the Wood mill and a member of the committee.

Mr. Curtis reported at the meeting that a total of 398 had registered. Of this number 33 have secured work elsewhere, three have been crossed off the list, Dr. Daly is taking care of 57, and Phillips academy is using 21. There are 28 women. This makes a total of 256 men and 28 women who are entitled to work.

The amount spent after tomorrow's payroll has been met will be close to $2,000. At the end of the first week $398 was paid out, $424 the second, and $512 the third. Employment was given to 136 last week. According to Acting Treasurer Thaxter Eaton the cash on hand at the time of the meeting was $3155, which is $35 less than a week ago. Deductions from the town payrolls amounted to $173.53 in addition to $39 in cash from the call firemen. There were seven contributions this week amounting to $170.00.

Mr. Curtis offered a suggestion at the meeting relative to the delivering of the tax bills and the water bills. He stated that approximately 3000 tax bills go out in October and 2000 water bills go out about the same time. The cost to the town for the mailing of these would be about $150. The emergency committee, Mr. Curtis stated, could handle the job at this cost by giving ten men the work of delivery. William B. Cheever, tax collector, is willing to co-operate with the committee on this matter, but it was decided to look into the legal aspects of the plan with Frederick E. Cheever, acting postmaster, and Frank S. McDonald, assistant postmaster. The excise bills which are now being prepared will be mailed since there are only a few of them.

Mr. Curtis explained that several other towns had adopted this plan. "White-collar

Playground Contest Staged Tonight

The summer playground tonight is to be the scene of the annual soap bubble contest in which only children under ten years of age may participate. All materials for the contest must be supplied by the children. The contest will be staged on the playstead in front of the bleachers and at a signal the participants will each endeavor to surpass the other by blowing the largest bubble. The one who has the largest bubble when the whistle is again blown wins that heat. A series of elimination heats will be run off scoring points for the finals. The contestants number 60 boys and girls and the contest promises to be an amusing and exciting affair. The judges will be Miss Elizabeth Perry and Miss Barbara Lord.

The onlookers will occupy the bleachers and the parents of the youngsters and all others are cordially invited to attend.

Under the supervision of Miss Perry, a volunteer worker, children are learning to make newspaper and sack dolls. The materials are supplied by the leaders at the cost of a few cents to the children. Another interesting diversion is wood craft work for the boys. James Bissett is the instructor. Miss Abbott is leading a group in making posters, etc., while Miss Davis is in charge of sewing.

The playground is proving more popular than ever this year. A radio has been added to the equipment, and during the afternoon this draws a large crowd for the baseball broadcast. Another popular addition is a putting green set. This was secured especially for the older boys and girls. A tournament is being planned for August with children fourteen or over being eligible.

Many other contests are scheduled for the summer months. A sand building contest for children under ten was started this week and already 79 have registered. Points will be given for pretty houses throughout the season. An award will be made at the end of the summer, and if there is a tie the result will be determined by a supplementary test.

Beginning Monday two checker tournaments will be started, their duration being a month. In the junior tournament those ten to fourteen will be admitted, while those fourteen or over will go in the senior class. A jackstone contest is also planned for girls between ten and fourteen.

Next Friday the annual doll show will be held. The dolls will be classified as follows: Largest, smallest, oldest, best home-made, most beautifully dressed, best pair of twins, most natural or lifelike, most unusual, best national costume and best decorated carriage. Every doll must have a slip of paper on it giving the class and the child's name and address. Miss Susan Ripley is chairman and she is assisted by a committee. Children of any age may participate.

Wednesday there will be a Playground Beach Party at King's Beach. The school busses will leave the playground at ten o'clock and the beach at 4.30 p.m. The playground children and their mothers are invited. Everyone should bring their own lunch. Bus tickets are 35 cents for children and 50 cents for adults.

Other events which are being considered are stilt and bicycle races, a pet show, a baby popularity contest, an Indian campfire powwow, a carnival and handwork exhibit, a play, and a Field Day.

Several of the older boys and girls are working for Playground Service Certificates. They are engaged in taking care of the swings, conducting games, etc. The leaders are very proud of these children and are grateful for their loyalty and cooperation. All those who work 25 hours will receive an attractive service certificate.

Monday evening the Board of Public Works voted to level off the area back of the swings for paddle tennis courts. The Board has also donated volley ball posts, teeters, sand and sand boxes. William Poland has contributed some bats and balls.

Yesterday morning the leaders were the guests of the Salem Park department. Many useful ideas were garnered during the delightful visit. A Salem delegation will come to Andover in the near future.

Mass Meeting Called for Monday Evening

Constructive Suggestions for Relief of Unemployed to Be Offered and Individual Complaints to Be Heard—May Petition for Town Meeting

Discontent among the unemployed led this week to the calling of a mass meeting by Matthew Burns. The meeting will be held in the town hall next Monday evening and will be called to order at 7.30.

Mr. Burns stated that his purpose in calling this meeting was to give everyone a chance to offer constructive suggestions for the relief of the unemployed. His action carries with it the implication that the town Emergency committee had failed in taking care of the unemployed. When asked if he was contemplating a petition for a special town meeting, Mr. Burns stated that he would leave that up to those present at the meeting.

The former candidate for selectman also mentioned that an opportunity would be given for the airing of complaints against the Emergency committee at the meeting. He feels that the committee has not treated some of the cases fairly.

At the meeting of the committee Tuesday evening the group discussed the matter in detail. No official action could be taken on it since the committee had no invitation to act upon. However, John F. O'Connell stated that he would be glad to go and hear any constructive suggestions that might be offered and he felt that the other members would do likewise. Mr. Burns extended an invitation through the press to the Emergency committee, the Board of Selectmen, the Board of Public Works, the directors of the Andover Taxpayers' association, the American Legion and several others interested in the problem.

A few weeks after the Emergency committee was appointed, Mr. Burns decided to call a similar meeting, but he was persuaded to change his mind after a conference with the Board of Selectmen and Mr. Curtis. At that time he stated that he felt that the committee should be given a fair chance to form its plans.

The committee expected from the first that there would be numerous complaints from those unemployed who were not given as much work as others. The system as adopted and now in force is one whereby the available work is allotted in proportion to the needs of the family involved. Naturally the committee expected charges of discrimination, and it has been hearing cases ever since it first started. At the meeting Tuesday evening Miss Walsh reported that many of those who had received work were very grateful, but that there were others who were disgruntled. One case was cited in which a family complained because it did not feel that it was getting enough work. The committee decided to give more work to the family, but no one showed up for the job. Later on one of the family told the officials in charge that they refused to take the work because they felt that they had been treated unfairly in the first place.

Frank H. Hardy, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, was asked at the meeting if he felt that the committee was helping any. He stated that he thought the committee was doing very good work. There are individual cases, he added, that feel that they are not getting all the work they should.

George Henderson Awarded Contracts

At a special meeting held Monday night the Board of Public Works awarded contracts to George Henderson for a piece of work on a sand shed near the Ballardvale engine house and another at the Haggett's pond pumping station. In Ballardvale the contract calls for renewing sills and sill posts, re-enforcing all studding, and replacing missing clapboards. The bids for this work were as follows: George Henderson, $43; Wallace Ward, $55; J. E. Pitman estate, $67.09; Philip L. Hardy, $75; Arthur Comeau, $76.80; Fred W. Doyle, $85; and J. W. Richardson, $100.

At the pumping station, shingling is to be done with shingles and nails supplied by the town and the cleaning up to be done by town employes. The bids for this job were as follows: George Henderson, $32; Philip L. Hardy, $50; J. E. Pitman estate, $55.45; J. W. Richardson, $60; M. M. Dwyer, $60; Arthur Comeau, $61.50; Wallace Ward, $65; and Fred W. Doyle, $68.

It was also voted at the meeting that the superintendent of the board should supervise the work to be done on the parking space at the central schools in accordance with the plans made by the school committee.

Recent Change in Shawsheen Recalls Astounding Growth

In Fifteen Years Old Frye Village Has Been Transformed from a Slumbering Little Community to One of the Finest Residential Districts

The announcement last week by the new owners of Shawsheen Village that the community will retain its high reputation of distinction and will remain an uncommercialized residential section has quieted the fears of Andover citizens, who are proud of their beautiful community in the northern part of town. The Townsman feels that it is quite appropriate to recall the history of Shawsheen village, which with its rows of white wooden and red brick houses, with its neatly laid out streets, bordered by beautiful shade trees, with its well-kept lawns and green shrubbery, has always been a center of attraction for visitors. Motorists passing through town always slow down and admire this modern, picturesque village.

In 1917 Frye village was a little rural district between Andover center and Lawrence, a hamlet comprised of a narrow main highway, a few houses, and one or two small side streets leading to Lowell and Haverhill. A small, quaint, wooden factory, painted red, with a belfry on top to summon its few employes, stood on the river bank east of the Boston highway. The rustic, three-room, brick building, the Richardson school, with a staff of two teachers was large enough to care for the educational needs of the few families of the village. The main thoroughfare was just a dirt road, marked with deep ruts made by wagon wheels, and the center of the road was dug up by horses' hoofs. An automobile passing along that street—a rare sight then—travelled with difficulty. The mailman made his delivery in a little carriage, drawn by a horse. In short, Frye Village in 1917 was a quiet, peaceful, small community, its inhabitants mostly engaged in small-scale farming, little disturbed by worries of labor troubles. The industrial revolution had not yet affected Frye Village.

But between the center of this village and Andover center, was the residence of a man who had risen from a mill worker to the organizer and president of the largest woolen company in the world, an organization which grew to include fifty great mills. He was a man full of ambition—a man who never left things half done. William M. Wood, who had lived near this quiet settlement for twenty years, wished to establish a community where the employes of his organization, could live together and learn to know each other better, and by making his workers happy and contented, Mr. Wood hoped to make an even greater organization.

Mr. Wood's wishes were soon turned into actions. Frye Village was chosen to become the American Woolen company's model town. Soon heavy trucks, laden with gravel, with lumber, and with all kinds of building material rumbled into the village. Huge steam shovels were brought in. Frye Village was no longer quiet. Cement mixers, pile-drivers, cranes, trucks, steam shovels, and tractors produced more noise than the little community had ever heard. Hundreds of laborers appeared from nearby industrial centers. Ground was levelled off, cellars dug, foundations made, and buildings appeared. Streets were cut through the former farm

Sportsmen's Club Conducts Meeting

A meeting of the Andover Sportsmen's club was held at the log cabin on the Phillips academy bird sanctuary grounds last night. The secretary's report on the last meeting was read and accepted.

The roll call was then taken and there were 13 members present and 20 absent. Eight new members were taken into the club. The treasurer's report was given and accepted. The balance in the treasury up to July 14, 1932 was $169.54. The fish committee reported that everything at the pond was fine. The game committee had no report to make as yet. The Skeet committee reported that the Everett gun club would like the skeet team to come down there and shoot. It was voted to accept the invitation. It was voted that the vice-president find out what it will cost to join the Essex county Sportsmen's League.

It was voted the Ways and Means committee and the skeet committee get together and make plans for an all-day shoot in August. They are to report at the next meeting. It was also voted that the secretary get in touch with the different skeet clubs and find out about having some friendly shoots.

The next meeting will be held at the president's house, 54 Salem street, July 28.

Local Artists Contribute to Interesting Exhibit at Gallery

Grade Schools, Junior and Senior High Schools, Former Art Students and Dilettantes All Represented in Unique Collection

A collection of art works that will probably attract more local people than any other exhibition to date is now on exhibition at the Addison Gallery. It is entirely made up of the works of people residing in Andover and vicinity. We have no Whistlers, no Sargents, but the art-lover viewing this collection takes this into account. There are many fine pieces on exhibition, and while many of them would never be allowed on the walls of the ordinary museum, they are all extremely interesting.

The collection ranges from the little drawings done by grade school pupils to the oils done by advanced art students. The local primary grades, the Junior and Senior high schools, and the Lawrence high school are all represented. Several of our outstanding art students have works on exhibition. Included in this group are Stuart C. Henry, now the curator at the Museum of Fine Arts and Natural History of Fitchburg; Miss Frances Dalton, just returned after two years of study in Europe; W. Abbot Cheever, who has been studying at the school of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and is well-known for his magazine cover drawings; and Philip Fox, who has also been abroad recently.

The great majority of the paintings, prints, drawings, etc., are, however, the work of dilettantes, and since they were done only by casual artists the casual art-lover will take a peculiar delight in witnessing the collection.

Stuart Henry has two oils in the exhibition. Visitors will be interested in the light effects in his "Old Street in Quebec," and his "Coast of France" will also attract considerable attention. His mother, the wife of Rev. Charles W. Henry, rector of Christ church, has an oil entitled "Old Andover" which everyone should make it a point to see. It was evidently painted from Mrs. Henry's home or somewhere near there and takes in the view from Central street up to the square, with the Baptist church and the library looming up prominently.

Another work of local interest is the portrait of Frederick S. Boutwell done by Frances Dalton. Abbott Cheever has contributed two drawings of heads and a very good painting in oil of "Lake Louise." Bartlett Hayes has four oils in the exhibit, two of them being very good copies.

George LeBoutillier's "Pomp and Circumstance" will prove a rare surprise, and for that reason we will not describe it further. Of more local interest is his "Farm on Sunset Rock Road." His father, Addison LeBoutillier, has contributed two wood engravings and one lithographic pencil drawing.

Mrs. Frances McClellan has a water color of local interest entitled "On Holt Road." She also has on exhibit two other water colors "Winter Sunset" and "Ipswich." Hugh McClellan has contributed an architectural drawing, and Mrs. Elizabeth McClellan Stefani, now in Jullouville-Les-Pins, France, has two water colors, "Saw Mill" and "North Andover Barn" and two architectural drawings in the exhibition. Melvin Barnes has also sent in two interesting archi-

Legion Convention Delegates Chosen

Commander Arthur Jowett, Department Historian Claude M. Fuess, and Adjutant Joseph McCarthy were selected as delegates to the state convention of the American Legion to be held in Lawrence next month at a meeting of the Andover post, 8, Tuesday evening. The alternates chosen were Joseph T. Remmes, and Past Commander Thaxter Eaton and Arthur L. Coleman.

The local post will hold open house to all visiting Legionnaires during the convention, and it will have its welcome banner out as it did during the national convention in Boston in October, 1930.

The bugle and drum corps of the post took part in the Washington bicentennial parade in North Andover last Saturday, and received much favorable comment from the spectators.

The corps will enter the southern New Hampshire competition July 23 at Hampton Beach, and plans to participate in programs in Lowell, Salisbury Beach, Exeter, N. H., at the Topsfield Fair, and at the State convention in Lawrence next month.

Loan Exhibition of Period Furniture

Members of the Andover Historical society have been invited to special loan exhibitions of period furniture at the Wentworth Mansion in Salmon Falls, N. H. and the Sarah Orne Jewett Memorial in South Berwick, Maine, two nationally-known old mansions situated one-quarter of a mile apart. The exhibition will be for one week only, July 14 to 21 from 12 o'clock until 7, daylight saving time.

The furniture exhibited in each house will differ radically and wholly from the other, one being of the early eighteenth century and the other of the late eighteenth century. Tea will be served in the Theodore Eastman Community house, adjoining the Jewett Memorial on the first day of the exhibition, and also on Saturday, Sunday, Tuesday, and Thursday. Luncheon will be provided during the week at the Wentworth Mansion Studio.

Town's State Tax Quota Increases

Andover must pay $3,547.50 more as its share of the state tax this year than it did last. The town's quota for 1931 was $21,900, and this year it is $25,447.50. This is a sixteen per cent increase.

Mr. and Mrs. Verner Magoon and son Alvin of Flint, Michigan, are visiting with Mrs. Magoon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Brown of Maple court.

O'Brien and Neil Tennis Champions

Frank O'Brien, Jr., was crowned juvenile tennis champion of Greater Lawrence, in the first annual Shawsheen Juvenile Tennis tournament, held at the Balmoral courts on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week. The youngster, son of the captain of the 1906 Yale baseball team and the 1902 Phillips Academy nine, had little difficulty in romping through a large field in the Senior division of the tournament for children 12 to 14 years old.

In the Junior division for boys and girls 8 to 11 years old Robert W. Neil was named champion.

Both the winners are Andover boys, young O'Brien living in Taylor hall while Bobby resides on Balmoral street. The senior champion is in the seventh grade at Stowe Junior high school. In the three days of play he competed in a total of 85 games, of which he won 72. Five of the twelve sets which he won were love sets. His opponent in the finals on Wednesday was Donald Donahue of Lawrence, who put up a splendid game against the cool, experienced O'Brien youngster, who won 6-1 and 6-3.

The junior champion was pitted against Douglas Howe of Burnham road, whom he defeated 6-3, 6-3. Bobby Neil is a sixth grader at the Shawsheen school, and the tournament this week was the first in which he ever participated. He is the possessor of a brilliant fast ball service. which was a great aid to him in defeating young Howe.

The two champions were presented with silver loving cups, and the two runners-up were given tennis racquets, the gift of the Balmoral Spa.

The tournament was conducted under the direction of Henry J. Simmers and James N. Cole. Malcolm Ruhl served as referee at many of the contests and was assisted by Jim Williams, Mr. Simmers, Jim Cole, Bill Renny, and Mrs. Simmers.

The balls used in the tournament were supplied by Samuel F. Rockwell of North Andover, John Bolten, Mr. Cole, and Mr. Simmers.

The sponsors of the tournament feel that the event, judged by the enthusiasm that it aroused among the entrants, was a distinct success, and they intend to hold another juvenile tournament next year.

A Well-Organized System

A mass meeting will be held in the Town Hall Monday evening for the purpose of allowing the townspeople an opportunity to offer constructive suggestions for the relief of the unemployed. If the meeting really accomplishes this purpose, it will be very worthwhile. However, from all indications the greater part of the evening will be spent in presenting complaints against the Emergency committee, while the only "constructive" suggestion that will probably be offered would be to hold a special town meeting, which costs several hundreds of dollars—money the unemployed certainly wouldn't get.

When the Emergency committee started in on its work, it realized that there would be a great many complaints from those who felt that they were being discriminated against in the allotment of work. It has always been ready to hear those complaints, and if a correction seems advisable, the committee's workers have immediately done their best to remedy the situation. The work has had to be staggered, of necessity, and it has been allotted to the various individuals in proportion to the needs of their families. There has been no other basis upon which the available work has been distributed. Because of this, some of those unemployed who have other members of their families working have had to go without work.

The Emergency committee is looking after families and not individuals. It was given the task of seeing that no one in Andover should go hungry, and this it has done by a remarkably careful checkup on the needs of every person who registered. Many of those who have received work have been very grateful for the aid rendered them, but many others have grumbled because they felt that they were not getting enough. This was to be expected. It has happened in every depression so far, and it will probably happen in every depression to come. It would not be too much to say that most of the complaints come from the permanently unemployed, from those who complain even in good times.

It is hard being unemployed; everyone will admit that. But why do people make it harder by being disgruntled and making their friends disgruntled, too? Why can't the unemployed take this situation in the right spirit? Those who are out of work say that those who are working should donate in order to help out, but they themselves prove very selfish when it comes to allotting the work. Everyone, even the unemployed, should co-operate in this relief movement. The town is under no obligation to give work to everyone or anyone. It does, however, have the moral duty of seeing that no one goes hungry, and through the Emergency committee it is fulfilling this duty. Everyone doesn't have work, but no one is without food.

It would seem that what the unemployed want at this time is a special appropriation of $10,000 or $15,000. They are not satisfied with the way that the Emergency committee has been handling its funds. The committee has already spent close to $2,000, and it intends to go on at the rate of about $500 a week until fall. At that time if conditions are no better, it is to be presumed that the weekly expenditures will be stepped up to take care of the winter demands. Yet the unemployed are not satisfied with this method of spending. They evidently want money to be spent as it was a year ago, about $2000 a week for five or six weeks.

The situation is at present being well taken care of. The mills in Lawrence are having a revival of their business, temporarily at least, and everything points to better conditions in and about Andover. There is no need of a special appropriation today. The committee has everything planned well ahead. Their funds are being spent with an eye to future needs. If a special appropriation were granted, and spent as it was last year, there would be work for about six weeks. Then the money would have run out—and the unemployed would be disgruntled again.

The Emergency committee has been conducting its affairs judiciously and fairly. This is no time for haphazard spending, and if the voters of the town are asked to make a special appropriation, they would doubtless refuse.

Work Given to Needy Unemployed workers" and those who are unable to do heavy work would be benefited by it.

Besides the subject of dissatisfaction which is treated in another part of this paper, a few minor points were taken up. Many of the workers have not been reporting for work on the date that their card is punched, and it was decided that in the future anyone reporting late to a department will be sent to the registration office before work is given. Some of those who were sent cards were given work in the mill on the day that the emergency work was to be done, and they failed to notify the committee so that someone else could be helped out. Others were ill and did not notify the authorities. This tangles everything up.

The sewing plan which was discussed at a meeting a few weeks ago will not be put into practice until later in the year when the need for garments is more pressing.

The committee expressed their appreciation for the co-operation that the mills have been giving. Mr. Lamont mentioned that Miss Welch had prepared a list of Wood and Washington mill employees who had registered. There were fifteen in this class and ten had been put to work. The others could not be located in the short time available. Mr. Hardy stated that the Shawsheen Mills had put on three or four men at his request.

Communication

The American's Creed

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies."

(Authorized version)

The above "American's Creed" was taken from a Veterans' Service Magazine. It is an excellent creed but I often wonder how many of our boys who went across to "defend" our Constitution are now supporting it or obeying its laws.

1932 -- THE "STAY-AT-HOME" SUMMER

For the fortunate few, the house at the beach or the country will be opened again—the vacation will be as usual, or travel at reduced rates will be enjoyed—

BUT FOR MANY OF US—

Well, we must admit that prudence, and our pocket books will probably dictate

A STAY-AT-HOME SUMMER.

One enjoyment we can indulge in, however, and we shall undoubtedly do it occasionally, and that is to gather the family into the automobile and take them out to dine, at places where the rates are attractive, the food delicious, and the atmosphere homelike.

May we invite you to come out to

The Manning Manse Tea Tavern

in North Billerica, Mass.

It is such a homey place—a real old New England home—has been in the Manning Family over 230 years—and is in a perfect state of preservation. And the food? Well, they say it's the best tasting and the best served anywhere around.

Lunch $1.25 to $2.00. Tea 50c to $1.00. Dinner $1.50 to $2.50.

Reservations made by calling Mrs. Morris, telephone Billerica 49-4.

Special care and attention given for luncheons, bridge, club and committee meetings.

H. Gilbert Francke has a pastel entitled "Larkspur" and Mrs. Clara T. Knox has an oil painting of sweet william in the collection. "Winter Morning in Andover" by Mrs. George M. R. Holmes will attract considerable attention, as will the landscape by Miss Alice Jenkins. Miss Polly Francis and Miss Ethel A. Farrington have contributed two heads, "Peg" and "Gertrude" respectively. Mrs. Joseph Ashton's "Kandersteg" is a water color of interest. Miss Alice L. Bell of Morton street has a pastel and an oil in the collection.

Change in Shawsheen Recalls Its Growth

land and semi-forest; immaculately white houses were built along the new streets. A new town was being created.

All this construction, however, though accomplished in remarkably quick time, was by no means done in a haphazard manner. Mr. Wood bought all the land he required and employed skilled architects and experienced engineers. The lowest bidding constructors were not the ones hired to do the work; it was the company which would do it best, which would make the village the most beautiful spot in the surroundings. The prosaic name Frye Village was replaced by the more euphonic name Shawsheen Village.

It did not take long. The rural district of Frye Village became the modern Shawsheen. Wide, cement streets replaced narrow, dirt roads. The little red factory was razed and in its place rose a new brush factory. An up-to-date laundry, a mammoth woolen mill, a model dairy, and a great power house to heat and light these buildings appeared. In cooperation with the Boston and Maine railroad Mr. Wood built a railroad station to accommodate the many commuters who were employed in the Woolen company's Boston office. In sharp contrast with the Frye Village mailman in his horse-drawn carriage, Shawsheen had its own postoffice, a beautiful structure in the very heart of the village. The old Smith Mansion was renovated and became the famous Shawsheen Manor. The last traces of quaint rustic Frye Village were gone. Shawsheen Village, the model town, was a reality.

Mr. Wood was a firm believer in that trite but true adage, concerning "All work and no play." He was desirous of having his employes enjoy themselves. He planned for them the Balmoral Gardens, where they might enjoy dancing; the adjoining Spa, where they could sit and enjoy cool, refreshing drinks; the canoe float south of the Spa; the tennis courts on Balmoral street, and the great Balmoral playing fields. For the youngsters he improved the bathing beach at Hussey's pond. The tots he made happy with entertainments, Punch and Judy shows and the like in the community assembly room in the postoffice building. A dramatic club was organized as well as a Women's club. The first Andover troop of Boy Scouts was that which met in the Shawsheen Boys' club building. Surely here the American Woolen company employes would be happy—here where plenty of room and opportunity for recreation was offered to all; here where amidst beautiful surroundings their children were brought up in a happy and contented community; here in Shawsheen Village, the model town.

And happy indeed were the citizens. This was in the years from 1920 to 1925. But then changes took place. The call of the South attracted the woolen industry. William M. Wood retired from the presidency of the company which he had organized and later he ended his life in Florida; the industrial depression came; and the hum of activity in Shawsheen was almost silenced. It was feared that soon the beautiful dwellings would bear "To Let" signs in their windows; that the removing of the Woolen company's office back to Boston would ruin Shawsheen; and that the model town would be almost deserted.

These fears, fortunately, were not well-founded. There have been more applications for rental of the attractive houses than could be cared for. Shawsheen will always remain an exclusive residential section, even though the company that first owned it, recently sold most of its holdings there. The Frye Village era was abnormal; this beautiful piece of countryside was not meant to be a sleepy hamlet. But so also was the booming five year period from 1920 abnormal. Shawsheen Village is now what it was destined to be, a beautiful, peaceful, and uncommercialized residential community.

In Memoriam

MRS. ADELAIDE F. PLAYDON

The roses are yet in Andover, and the larkspur and the lilies; but Mrs. Playdon has gone from us. She was somewhat of a human flower, and the resemblance occurred to one easily because of the happy fact that she had so much to do with them.

Like them, she did not put herself forward. One might live here for months without realizing the place which this modest woman held in the town. She illustrated a saying that true gracefulness is the concentrated essence of goodness. If sometimes she appeared shy, she knew very well what she wanted to do, and she did it. She was gay with a gentle gayety. She was happy in her marriage and in her employment. With her husband's consent, she dispensed generously the contents of those greenhouses which she knew so well. Her departure from our little stretch of stores and offices is like taking a bouquet out of a room. But she will not be forgotten; one may close his eyes, and there she is. And memory can be grateful that she lived among us.

Oil From Tung Tree

For centuries the Chinese have grown tung oil trees in a primitive way and manufactured oil from their fruit by the crudest methods. Yet this oil has been the chief paint oil of China and has become the basis for some of their finest lacquers, for the waterproofing of their finest fabrics and the main vehicle for their paints. From the soot of tung oil has been made the finest "India" ink. The oil has been used for dressing leather, for waterproofing silk and for oiling and calking junks. The tung oil tree is a beautiful ornament. It has large leaves like the catalpa and a profusion of white blossoms in March. It grows rapidly, giving a pleasant shade while still young. The tree was introduced into the United States in 1905.

Industrial League

The Andover Industrial Baseball league started with a bang this week when the Post Office defeated the Rockport Market and the Vets defeated the Townsman. Fairly large crowds attended both games, and all the spectators enjoyed themselves thoroughly, displaying the very spirit that the League had hoped for. Everyone found amusement in the antics of the fun-seeking players, and all applauded the spectacular plays that were made.

The league committee had two meetings during the week. On Monday evening the rosters of the clubs were submitted, and a set of by-laws was drawn up.

Last night the committee met again. Joseph Doherty was appointed umpire. The committee then went to the K. C. rooms and met the Town League committee to discuss the status of several players who play for both leagues. The Town league has a rule which prohibits any of its players from participating in a game in any other league. Aubrey Polgreen and Jerry Winters, who are employed by the Townsman, are members of the Trojans as well as of the Townsman team. The schedules of the two teams do not conflict and the two players are anxious to play in both leagues. The Town League agreed to let them do this next week, and it requested the Industrial League committee for more time to think the matter over.

The standing after one week of play in the Industrial League is as follows:

	W	L	Ave.
V. F. W.	1	0	1.000
Post Office	1	0	1.000

P. O. 14—Greeley 7

The first game in the new baseball league at the Playstead Tuesday night resulted in a victory for the Post Office over the J. E. Greeley team two touchdowns to one, 14-7. Fran Daly twirled for the mailmen fanning seven grocery men, while brother John was the batting star with three hits and three runs batted in.

Fred Barrett who is a good truck driver as well as a nice first baseman is very good on pick-ups (in playing baseball, not as a truck driver of course). Eddie O'Dowd, who is very fast for a fruit man, also excelled afield and at bat. Although a fruit man, he was no lemon Tuesday night.

The letter carriers were aided by the Rockport errors, but in the future they expect to exhibit a Keuhner brand of baseball. By practicing Daly, they are sure they will be des-Irving of the breaks and will do well on the Playstead Deyermond. Excuse it, please!

V. F. W. 7—Townsman 6

In the second league game the Veterans of Foreign Wars took the Townsman team into camp, 7-6, in a game full of thrills and spills. Going into the seventh inning, the Townsman had the game 6-5, but the Foreign Warriors scored two in the seventh. With two on in the last half of this inning Jimmy Welch relieved Pepper Martin in the box for the Vets and easily retired the next three batters. The V. F. W. started the game with its famous singing battery, John Erving and J. Everett Collins, who made several scintillating plays.

Right tackle Hap Harris threw Charlie Bowman and Ev Collins for heavy losses in the fourth and fifth frames. Jimmy Dugan with three clean singles and George Collins with a long double were the batting stars.

Town League

The Town League completes its second week of the second half tonight when Ballardvale meets the Trojans at the Playstead The Sherrill club is in the lead with three wins and no losses, and is trailed by the Hood nine which it defeated last night.

Despite the surprising spurt shown by H. P. Hood, the second half looks like a walk away for the Sherrill boys. This team is strong in the box with Jim Fettes and the Hiltons, John and Lester. A steady infield and a sure outfield add strength to the nine.

The Trojans have had difficulty filling a hole at second base, while the B. A. A. pitching staff is weak.

The league held a meeting last night in the K. C. rooms. The Ballardvale team's protest of a decision made by Umpire Mosher in the game with the Sherrill club Tuesday night was not upheld. Manager Doyle had claimed that one Sherrill base runner passed another, and that an out should have been declared.

The standing of the Town League is as follows:

	W	L	Ave.
Sherrill	3	0	1.000
H. P. Hood	2	1	.667
Trojans	1	2	.333
Ballardvale	0	3	.000

Hoods 6—B. A. A. 3

Eddie Lindholm pitched the H. P. Hood nine to a 6-3 victory over the B. A. A. at the 'Vale last Friday night. Although the Hood nine was outhit 12-8, they managed to produce the hits when they counted. Heine Porter with two singles and a double at bat and seven chances without an error at second base was the individual star of the game. Kibbee of the B. A. A. who is one of the leading hitters in the league, boosted his average with three hits out of four times at bat. Tom Fallon who has been leading the league went hitless.

Hoods 9—Trojans 4

Abie Swenson held the Trojans in check Monday night at the Playstead while his mates on the Hood nine pounded out eleven hits for nine runs and won easily 9-4. Seven Trojan errors were a big factor in their downfall. Heine Porter with two singles and a double shared batting honors with Harry Gouck who contributed three singles. Aldrich, a new addition to the Trojan pitching staff fanned six Hood men, but received very poor support, Abie Swenson struck out six and walked only one.

Sherrill 8—Hood 1

The Sherrill club had an easy time defeating the H. P. Hood nine at the playstead last night, 8-1. Long Jim Fettes held the Hood men to three hits, two of them by Henry Page, and fanned two. Barney O'Neill started on the mound for Hoods, but the Sherrillites found his offerings to their liking, and he was forced to beat a hasty retreat in favor of Abie Swenson who finished the game with a fair amount of success.

In the first two innings the Sherrill club collected six runs, a lead which the Hood men could not overcome. Jim Davidson with two doubles, Bud Skea with a double and a single, and Bunnie Porter and Bill White, both with three singles, were the big hitters.

Lawrie with three singles, and Drum Bissett and Gus Assonian, each with a double and a single, starred at bat, while Bunny Porter and Lawrie contributed the fielding gems.

Lester Hilton was the winning pitcher, striking out five men, passing two, and hitting one.

Ballardvale M. E. 11—Calvary 4

The Ballardvale Methodist church baseball team had little difficulty in trouncing the Calvary Baptist team 11-4 in a Greater Lawrence church league game at the 'Vale playstead Monday night.

A big six-run sixth inning for the Methodist lads was the big feature of the game. Besides striking out ten men, Pitcher Partridge starred at bat with three singles.

Would Be Long Session

Murmuring, "I'll teach her who's boss," the little man pushed open his gate and after knocking at the front door gained admittance to his home. Almost immediately sounds of conflict came from behind the closed door.

Presently the door flew open and the little man, no longer aggressive, tumbled down the front steps, propelled by an arm which closely resembled a shoulder of mutton.

Picking himself up, he scowled at the owner of the hefty arm.

"I'll teach her who's boss," he murmured, "but she's going to take a lot of teaching."—LondonTit-Bit.

Effect of Hot Bread

The public health service says that as to which is considered the harder to digest, hot or cold bread, is a point upon which scientists disagree. Many contend that hot breads are injurious, while others point to the fact that many persons eat hot bread throughout their entire lifetime without ill results. There are, no doubt, many factors entering into the matter—the health of the individual concerned, the character of the bread and perhaps the occupation of the individual or his activities.—Washington Star.

Natural Laws

Water always seeks its own level—and so does man. Life's pull is ever downward, the same as that of gravity. This is why it requires strength, courage, and will power to reach higher ideals. But wise is the man who makes the effort.—Grit.
